Making a difference

Rowcroft, the South Devon hospice provides specialist care for people with terminal illnesses, whilst supporting their families and carers. We believe everyone facing a life-limiting illness should have access to the highest quality care, tailored to their needs and aimed at giving the best possible quality of life. All of the hospice's services are provided free of charge and yet we receive limited funding from the NHS. Every penny raised by the Big Midnight Walk will help the hospice continue to care.

Every day 822 people in the UK are told they have cancer. Macmillan's ambition is to reach and improve the lives of every one of these people and the two million already living with the disease. We will do this by providing them with the medical, emotional, practical and financial support they need. It's a big ambition but something you can help us to do. Every penny you raise will fund more of our vital services and help us to develop new ways to change lives.

Under the terms of the Data Protection Act 1998, Rowcroft Hospice would like to retain your name and address for administrative purposes, and so that we can keep you informed of our work. However, should you wish to be removed from our mailing list please tick the box below and return this slip to us at the above address, thank you. We assure you that your information is not passed on to a third party.

Macmillan Cancer Support and our trading companies would like to hold your details in order to contact you about our fundraising, campaigning, and services for people affected by cancer. If you prefer us not to use your details, please tick the box below or call our Supporter Services team on 0207 840 4300 or email us at supporterservices@macmillan.org.uk. We do not swap or sell your details with any third parties, but in order to carry out our work we may need to pass on your details to service companies authorised to act on our behalf.
